Since its establishment in July 1995, Bridgestone Logistics has been the Bridgestone Group's only logistics specialized company. As Bridgestone Logistics joins the SBS Group, it will maintain strong relationships with the Bridgestone Group and its major partners, while our Group will share its infrastructure and expertise, pursue collaboration and synergies in logistics operations, and work to establish a framework for providing higher value-added, integrated logistics services.

Masahiko Kamata, President of SBS Holdings and Representative of the SBS Group, commented as follows.

"For the SBS Group, which wants to strengthen its automotive business, the addition of Bridgestone Logistics, one of the most competitive tire logistics companies, to the Group is significant. We believe that the expertise, technologies, and forward-thinking culture cultivated within the Bridgestone Group, one of Japan's most prominent national brands, will breathe new life into our Group."

As with other companies that have joined the SBS Group, the current president of Bridgestone Logistics will remain in office to ensure business continuity and integration within the Group.
